

READING SUMMIT for Educators

Believe in the power of independent reading

Join us for a one-day professional learning conference on July 17, 2014, in Norwood, MA (Boston metro area)

Hear from nationally recognized keynote speaker Pam Allyn. Pam is a world-renowned expert in home and school literacy connections. She is the Founding Director of LitLife, a professional development organization that specializes in reading and writing instruction.

"The Summit helped me to see the things that I need to implement with regards to literacy/reading and the Common Core."
– Derrick Davis, Cleveland Street Elementary, Orange, NJ

Bring a team from your school and save!

Pave multiple pathways to achieve independent reading equity through a school team approach.
