Royale Rules

Our recommended game mode: Where it's the books you bring that battle to see which is the best of the batch!

GOAL: The first book to win four cards (with 5-7 players) or five cards (with 3-4 players) is crowned the winner of the book royale!

Royale Rules

An excuse for being late

SETUP: Everyone has a different book and sits in a circle. The cards are placed face-down in the middle. The starting player should also have a 1-minute timer.

PICKING: The starting player takes the top card off the deck, picks a prompt, and reads it aloud.

SEEKING: Everyone except the Picker searches their book for text to match the prompt. They're seeking for sequential text of any length: a single word, half of a sentence, a whole sentence, multiple sentences.

READING: When the timer runs out (or every Seeker announces "I've got it"), each Seeker reads what they've found. Seekers who didn't find text in time open to a random page and read a random sentence from it.

ROTATION: After each round, the person to the left of the last Picker starts the next round. ALSO, every other round, everyone passes their book to the player on their left.

Royale Rules

TIMER: The first Seeker to find matching text announces "I've got it," which starts the timer.

JUDGING: The Picker chooses their favorite submission and hands that Reader the card. The Reader tucks the card into the book (like a bookmark), checking to see if it has enough to win.
